

Mike Fields

Clean lines, vivid colors, human emotion and a soulful touch: all descriptions used to define the excellent artistry that is Mike Fields.

"I paint with the thought of making the viewer a part of the piece by first giving them something nice to look at. I then want the viewer to ask, who is that person? What is it that they do?" says Mike.

Passionate about his work, Mike has created a name for himself by encouraging an appreciation for some of the world's greatest icons. These are those who have greatly influenced America and the world, from music to sports and beyond.

A self-taught talent, Mike has been influenced throughout his career by artist like Vincent Van Gogh, George Bellows, and Talle Bamazi just to name few. Mike has been featured at major shows like the Detroit International Jazz Festival, the New Orleans Jazz & Heritage Festival, as well as events for the National Hockey League and The Ohio State University sports leagues.

Not only has Mike's art benefited many local and national charities, it can also be found displayed in the homes of jazz greats Allen Toussaint and Trombone Shorty and many pro athletes, as well.

Mike's unique artistic style has been widely recognized for its creativity, and for the respect he shows to his subjects by keeping their faces and talents alive in our minds eye. Believing that there are no limits for a man with a purposeful mission; Mike Fields not only creates art out of love for the work and subject matter, but to also raise the collective consciousness of the American culture. Through his art, he causes his viewers to remember the positive influences of our entertainers and sports greats.

His mission of expressive awareness will one day be the force that writes his name in the artistic books of history.

Mike currently resides in his hometown of Columbus, Ohio. See more of Mike's work at www.FineArtAmerica.com and coming soon www.MikesJazzArt.com.
